12 October 2005

CONVENTION ON THE PREVENTION OF MARINE POLLUTION BY DUMPING OF WASTES AND OTHER MATTER (LONDON CONVENTION 1972)

List of national focal points in administrations of Contracting Parties responsible for waste disposal at sea

In accordance with Article VI(1) of the London Convention 1972, each Contracting Party shall designate an appropriate authority or authorities responsible for the issue of permits for waste disposal at sea, as well as for keeping records of such sea disposal and for monitoring the condition of the seas for the purposes of the Convention.

The maintenance by the Secretariat of a database of national focal points responsible for the prevention and control of marine pollution from dumping at sea is essential, particularly with regard to cases where emergency dumping (Article V(2)) is considered and States that might be affected would have to be consulted immediately.

The last official request to Contracting Parties to transmit the names and addresses of national administrations designated in accordance with the above requirements was distributed as LC.2/Circ.429 in July 2003. An updated list drawn from our database is shown in annex 1 attached hereto. The Secretariat urges those national administrations which have not yet included an email address to do so, as day-to-day communications are now commonly done through the Internet.

In certain cases, an interim contact address has been provided pending the designation of a national administration. These addresses are contained in annex 2. In cases where an amendment to the listed information is required, it can be made on the notification form shown in annex 3. Contracting Parties to the Convention which have not yet provided the Secretariat with the necessary information are listed in annex 4.

Additional information and amendments should be submitted preferably not later than 30 November 2005 to:

Mr. R. Coenen
Head, Office for the London Convention 1972
International Maritime Organization
4 Albert Embankment
London SE1 7SR
United Kingdom
Fax: +44-20-75873210
Email: rcoenen@imo.org

The resulting updated list of national focal points will be distributed in December 2005 to all Contracting Parties and also be posted at the London Convention Web-site.
