• The INTERPORTPOLICE is a chartered organization of airport, seaport, and transport law enforcement and public safety authorities; established in 1969 by police authorities of Canada, the Netherlands, United Kingdom, and the United States to fight terrorism and serious transnational crime. The operations of the organization collectively fall under the Office of the Secretary General. The organization's member authorities are police and public safety jurisdictions who serve transportation and border security.

TRANSPORTATION POLICING & PUBLIC SAFETY

Most port and border authorities function as a community, overseeing critical infrastructure, and international borders. In some cases, jurisdiction includes retail, hotels, mass events and a network of public and private transportation that can move people and goods around the world. Protected by men and women in public safety, these economic engines provide millions of jobs and add trillions of dollars to the local and national economies. Their security is critical.

Collectively, we work as a global force to protect our local communities, our nations, and the world.
